

Curriculum vitae of Dr. Franziska S. Hanschen

Since 2021	Head of research group QUALITY.2 – Optimization of Glucosinolate Degradation Pathways
2020	Habilitation in Food Chemistry at the University of Hamburg
since 2018	Leader of the Leibniz-Junior Research Group OPTIGLUP
01/2017	Research stay at NZ Institute for Plant & Food Research, Palmerston North, New Zealand
02/2015 - 04/2015	Research stay at the Food and Quality and Design Group of Wageningen University, Wageningen, The Netherlands
06/2016	Research stay at the Food and Quality and Design Group of Wageningen University, Wageningen, The Netherlands
06/2013 - 09/2013	Research stay at the Department of Molecular Cell Biology at the Institute of Environmental Health Sciences, Freiburg University Medical Center, Germany
2012	Post-Doc position at IGZ
2012	Conferral of a doctorate (Dr. rer. nat.)
2009-2012	Doctoral studies at the Technische Universität Berlin
2009	Diploma in Food Chemistry
2004-2009	Studies of Food Chemistry at the Technische Universität Berlin

Honors and Awards and Committees

09/2020	“Werner-Baltes-Preis des Jungen Wissenschaftlers“ by the Lebensmittelchemische Gesellschaft (LChG), section of German Chemical Society (GDCh)
09/2015	Josef Schormüller-Award (5000 Euro) by the Josef Schormüller-Gedächtnisstiftung
Since 2019	Vice-Chair of the Regionalverband Nordost of LChG (since 01/2019)
Since 2010	Member of the LChG
Since 2005	Member of the GDCh